“Serious games on Health and Safety for mobile learning”,	Developing a tool and procedures to keep safety the workers in the “new construction”. The health and safety are main matters in construction sector and to deploy it by using mini-games to easier access to the app. and the knowledge.	☑ To harmonize different approaches and methods to make it suitable for a cross border use. Then it will be spread out to other European countries where the same skills are relevant for a larger group of workers, and VET systems. ☑ To extend the possibilities of making a joint labour market keeping up health and safety common criteria. ☑ Promote stronger coherence between the worlds of work and training to achieve a better perform regarding youth unemployment, integration of migrants in labour markets and non-skilled workers, by addressing labour market mismatches (according to the “Strategy for the sustainable competitiveness of the construction sector and its enterprises”).	Since lots of books and didactic resources on health and safety in the construction already exist, we want to develop this Project addressing, besides the knowledge and practical skills, the safe attitude. Gamification will provide this: learning when playing and playing according to health and safety criteria. This methodology would be valid as a tool for VET courses in construction industry and also for self-learning.	-Fundación Laboral de la Construcción (Spain, Coordinator) -Satakunnan Koulutuskuntayhtymä (Finland) -Open Universiteit Nederland (The Netherlands) -Westdeutscher handwerkskammertag (Germany) -Fundatia romano-germana Timisoara (Romania) -Warrington collegiate (United Kingdom) -Centro Edile A.Palladio (Italy)	2014-2017	jgonzalez@fundacionlaboral.org
